

Cybox Introduces New Equipment

The new CYBEX FT-450 Functional Trainer has a unique patent-pending design that adds two key features to enhance functional training capabilities. First, the Progressive Stabilization Pad, which allows the user to incrementally modify their stability, and the Cable Width Adjustment, which results in innumerable height and width configurations, giving the most creative trainers countless exercise possibilities. No other product offers such game-changing training versatility.

CYBEX's new Plate Loaded and Free Weight equipment now looks as good as it is packed with features and uncomplicated movements. The lines and styling on the equipment were designed to complement all of CYBEX's strength products, which mean they can be integrated seamlessly as one look in your facility's environment. And accommodating a wide array of users, the plate loaded utilizes many of the same principles used in the design of our selectorized machines to provide outstanding results and space efficiency.

Iron Grip Introduces New Bar

Iron Grip's Competition Series 7' Needle Bearing Bar is built exactly to International Weightlifting Federation (IWF) specifications, and is suitable for Olympic-style lifting. It is manufactured entirely in the USA with a 28mm product-specific premium steel shaft. The sleeves feature a combination of one heavy-duty roller bearing and four needle bearings to achieve maximum spin and extreme durability. The Competition Bar's Hard Chrome finish is made to military specifications to prevent chipping, flaking or peeling.

Founded in 1993, Iron Grip Barbell Company quickly rose to prominence through the introduction of a revolutionary new design for weight plates. At the 1993 IHRSA convention, Iron Grip launched the first and only weight plates with integrated handgrips and a unique 12-sided design. This breakthrough became the company's signature product and represents one of the most significant improvements to the industry's oldest fitness equipment - the iron barbell and weight plate. Refined by sophisticated CAD/CAM software, this unique product is fully protected by numerous patents and a registered and trademarked name. The Iron Grip weight plate is manufactured exclusively in the USA by one of America's premier iron foundries, making it one of the few in its category to be manufactured domestically.

RJ Thomas Celebrates 50th Anniversary

R.J. Thomas Mfg. Co. was founded in 1959 by R.J. and Doris Thomas to build agricultural machinery of R.J.'s own design. The business also took on custom work. That custom work is what brought the Cherokee County Conservation Board into the plant one day with a need for a charcoal grill to be used in a new county park. The grill proved popular and the product line evolved to include picnic tables, benches and campfire rings. The selection of "Pilot Rock" as the brand name for this product line was influenced by the enormous glacial landmark near the factory.

Today the Pilot Rock brand is recognized internationally. The company is still owned by the Thomas family, and some production facilities are still located at the site of R.J.'s original building.

The Pilot Rock product line includes picnic tables, pedestal grills, park and street site benches, campfire rings, bike racks, trash and recycling receptacles and lids, lantern poles and more.

Zogics Offers Green Cleaning Products

Zogics now offers PureGreen24, an EPA registered, broad-spectrum antimicrobial disinfectant with unique 24-hour residual effectiveness that kills MRSA, SARS, Avian Flu and Norovirus, as well as common germs.

PureGreen24 has an EPA IV toxicity rating; the lowest assigned by the Federal EPA. Its active ingredient, SCD, is comprised of silver ions and citric acid, both of which occur naturally in the environment. PureGreen24 is strong enough to kill the most dangerous viruses and bacteria in a hospital environment, yet EPA registered for use on children's toys at home. PureGreen24 is non-flammable, non-corrosive, and odorless without fumes or skin irritation associated with traditional disinfectants.

PureGreen24 is manufactured in the USA, and available in one gallon bottles, 32oz triggers sprays, and 4oz pump sprays. Free samples provided upon request. In addition to surface disinfectants, Zogics also offer economical pre-moistened gym wipes and alcohol-free hand sanitizers.
